*In Quest for Sustainable Europe: the Economy of Wellbeing

“ Economy and social sector, including gender equality, are mutually reinforcing. This interlinkage is vital for economic growth and stability as well as societal stability and legitimacy. This has been emphasised by many international global organizations during the last years. ”

Ms. Pirkko Mattila, Minister of Social Affairs and Health of Finland Host of the seminar

This seminar aims to increase our understanding of the argumentation and analysis by international organisations. Is the Economy of Wellbeing something the European Union needs to take better into account?

During the morning roundtable session, we concentrate on the general relationship between wellbeing and economy, bringing into the discussion mainly the global experiences and perspective.

In the afternoon session, we focus more on the relationship between gender equality and the economy. Nordic countries have invested in gender equality and this has contributed considerably to their economic growth. What are the elements of Gender Equal Economies in the EU?
